

PETTIBONE WILL ADDS $25,000 TO TOTAL OF HIS PHILANTHROPY

THREE OF CITY'S INSTITUTIONS ARE GIVEN REQUESTS

Public Library and the La Crosse Hospital Each to Enjoy $10,000; Home Gets $5,000

GIFTS TO CITY EACH $140,000

Estimated That Pettibone Park Purchase and Improvement with Endowment Cost $115,000

SON IS NAMED AS EXECUTOR

Estate Is Divided Between Son and Daughter with Big Bequests to Grandsons

Twenty-five thousand dollars was added to the sum of A. W. Pettibone's philanthropic bounty to the city of his home today when the will of the late pioneer was filed for probate in county court. Included in the directions for the disposition of the $250,000 estate which his business acumen amassed during his active life were bequests for three public institutions of the city. The La Crosse public library and La Crosse hospital are each to receive $10,000, and the La Crosse Home for Women and Children, formerly known as the "Home for the Friendless," is bequeathed $5,000 for the furtherance of its charitable work.

Total Gifts to City $140,000. The total of Mr. Pettibone's bequests to his fellow citizens thus reaches more than $140,000. The park which bears his name, it is estimated, cost him more than $65,000 for the purchase and improvement. In addition he created an endowment fund of $50,000 for the perpetual maintenance of his gift.

Eight hundred thousand dollars of the late lumberman's fortune is in personal property, only $5,000 being invested in real estate. Wilson B. Pettibone, Hannibal, Mo., son of the pioneer, is named as executor of his father's estate.

Because the will was drawn before the death of Mrs. Pettibone the court will apportion the heirs a section of the estate including the Pettibone homestead at Eighth and King streets and $300,000. This sum was set aside in the document for his wife, Cordelia O. Pettibone, who died last year.

Wilson B. Pettibone and Mrs. Anna Sutor Mr. Pettibone's son and daughter, are the chief beneficiaries under the will. Each is to receive a third of the estate, the will directs, but no specific sums are mentioned.

$50,000 to Grandsons. Sums of over $50,000 are bequeathed to Wilson B. Pettibone and John S. Pettibone, Hannibal, grandsons of Mr. Pettibone, to be held in trust by their father until the age of twenty-one.

Upon their twenty-first birthdays, the grandsons are to receive $10,000 each, and upon their twenty-fifth birthdays, they are to receive $40,000 each. The balance of the bequest is to be given them upon their reaching the age of thirty.

The sum of $10,000 is left to Mrs. Jessie Newell Pettibone, widow of A. W. Pettibone, a son of the pioneer, who died some years ago. A like bequest is made to Mary B. Wilson of Manchester, Vt., a niece.

Remembers Servants

Anetta Reistad, housekeeper in the Pettibone family for a number of years, is left $2,000. Guri Christensen, also a servant in the Pettibone household, is left $1,000. Joseph Zenker, coachman for Mr. Pettibone for many years, is given the home in which he has resided while in the employ of Mr. Pettibone.

LANSING PREPARES REPLY TO ENGLAND

Understanding Is Demand Will Be Made That the Blockade Methods Be Abandoned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Secretary Lansing will have ready for submission to President Wilson when the latter returns to Washington, a draft of an answer to the recent British note refusing to end interference with American commerce on the high seas.

It was understood the secretary will question the applicability of the precedents cited by the British in support of their blockade methods and reiterate the American demand that they be abandoned.

PETTIBONE'S PET PROJECT ADVANCED BY THE ASSEMBLY

While Will Increasing His Philanthropies Is Filed the "Island Trade" Near Fulfillment

While the will of A. W. Pettibone, donor of Pettibone park to the city of La Crosse, was being filed for probate this morning, with bequests which bring the total of the lumberman's philanthropies for the city to $140,000, the legislature at Madison took a step which brought a degree nearer to fulfillment one of the favorite projects of Mr. Pettibone. Word was received just after noon today that the "island trade" bill, whose purpose is to give the island which Mr. Pettibone turned from a jungle to a beautiful park to the state of Wisconsin, had been favorably advanced in the assembly.

The assembly acted just before adjournment today. The bill it advanced gives Pettibone park to Wisconsin in exchange for the Wisconsin island across the river from Winona, which is desired by Winona also for park purposes.

Assemblymen Kurtzacker of La Crosse and Morgan of Pepin county spoke for the measure.

WILL INCORPORATE NEW MILK CONCERN FOR HALF MILLION

Organization of Company Which Will Headquarter Here Will Take Place Shortly

ONLY OLD HOLDERS LET IN

No Stock in New Concern Will Go to Any But the Former Members of the Valcica Co.

Incorporators of the Valcica Evaporated Milk company, a $500,000 concern with headquarters in La Crosse, will take place within two weeks, it became known here today. The company is the outgrowth of the recent purchases, by La Crosse stockholders of the Valcica Condensed Milk company, of the Footville and Middleton plants of the concern. The Valcica Condensed Milk company got into financial difficulties last winter, and its properties were sold by the court in Madison something over a month ago.

Only Old Stockholders. The new Valcica company will be formed entirely of stockholders of the older concern. W. R. Montague, it is understood, will be president. Mr. Montague conducted the campaign which resulted in the formation of a syndicate of former stockholders of the older concern to take over the Middleton and Footville plants, and bid in the two plants at the sale at Madison.

Arrangements have been concluded with Thomas C. Christ of Madison, a former superintendent of the plants, to take charge of the manufacturing end of the new company. The sales and administration departments will be handled from the La Crosse offices, which it is understood, will be opened in La Crosse about September 1. The new company takes charge of the plants September 1.

Running at Capacity

Both of the plants are now running full capacity, making a product whose total value is said to be $3,000 a day. The Valcica Evaporated Milk company, it is understood, is to be incorporated under the laws of Maine. Although local stockholders of the older concern have been the moving spirits in the formation of the new company, stock will be sold to other than La Crosse buyers. No stock, however, is to be sold to any but stockholders of the former company.

CLYNE PREPARES JURY INDICTMENTS

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—At least six persons will be indicted by the federal grand jury investigating the Eastland disaster, reports today said, as drawing up the indictments. The bills probably will be returned when the jury meets again Tuesday.

City harbor officials today were preparing to test the stability of every lake liner that enters the Chicago river or docks on the lake front. Rush orders were placed today for bars of iron which will be used in weighting down the boats.

MEXICAN SITUATION MAY BE CLEARED BY ADOPTION OF PLAN

Diplomats Said to Be Considering Way to Bring Villa and Carranza Together

WOULD CHOOSE PROVISIONAL HEAD

President Would Have to Be Agreeable to Carranza as the First Mexican Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The second, and probably the closing conference of the Pan-American diplomatic conference on Mexico convened at the state department shortly before three o'clock today. Diplomats attending the conference were silent on their plans but Secretary Lansing was expected to make an announcement later.

General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army, will leave Washington tonight at 6 o'clock, it was learned, for the Mexican border, presumably El Paso. Scott left the war department hurriedly after a conference with Secretary Lansing. It is understood he will attempt to mediate with Villa and Carranza.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—A program definitely agreed on, it was believed, at today's meeting between Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American diplomats on the Mexican problem promised to conclude consideration of the plans for restoring order in the republic south of the Rio Grande.

Three things seemed to bear out the theory that the conferees had agreed upon a plan. Secretary Lansing intimated that there might not be another conference.

It was admitted that the secretary was scheduled for an extremely confidential talk with General Hugh Scott, chief of the regular army staff. The hint was thrown out from official quarters that General Villa was so nearly "on his last legs" that it ought to be easy to force him into an agreement with General Carranza, as the only alternative to being ignominiously beaten by the latter.

According to the best information obtainable, the program contemplated one certain and a second possible step. The first, it was assumed, would be a proposition for a peace conference between Carranza and Villa. It was presumed that General Scott, famed for his success as a mediator, would make the suggestion to the rival leaders.

The two, if this theory was correct, would be asked to agree on a candidate for provisional president whom the United States and the Latin-Americans could recognize. This provisional president's business would be to administer Mexico's affairs until a regular election could be called, if possible within thirty and certainly within sixty days. For a permanent president, the Mexican people would be left absolutely to make their own choice.

Carranza Favored

The provisional executive would have to be satisfactory to General Carranza as the most powerful factor in Mexico at this time. He must not be absolutely impossible from General Villa's standpoint, but Villa, who, it was thought, should consider himself fortunate to be consulted at all, must not be unreasonably critical of Carranza's selection.

A "scientific" it was felt, was out of the question. A member of the late President Madero's cabinet was deemed most suitable. Vasquez Tagle was the only man who never resigned, but Carranza has already signed that Tagle would not meet his views. As an alternative Pedro Lascurain was most generally mentioned.

Carranza, it was believed, would accede to this arrangement, with the understanding that he was to have the predominant voice, as suggested.

This step number one, was understood to be the plan. Secretary Lansing and the Latin-American diplomats hoped would succeed. The alternative contemplated General Villa's possible refusal to accept the terms proposed. It consisted in recognition of Carranza as provisional president, with all necessary support in crushing the Villistas completely.

No Action Taken Yesterday

The meeting called yesterday afternoon between Secretary Lansing and the South American diplomats adjourned without any definite program being mapped out. Several of the representatives were in favor of the recognition of Carranza and others were in favor of Vasquez Tagle, whom Carranza unreservedly opposed.

Capital Conditions Improved

GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 6.—Improved Mexico City conditions were reported in a Carranza consular message from the capital today. Gonzales was reported to have loaned merchants a half million dollars for paying salaries; bread prices were sliced in two; meat was lower with increasing supplies.

Gonzales, too, had ordered death for soldiers who use or take private property or houses.

WOULD MAKE THE SHIPPERS' ASS'N BIG CIVIC BODY

Mayor and City Council Appealed to on Behalf of Plan to Get Square Freight Deal

WORK COSTS $5,000 A YEAR

City May Take Membership and All Business Men Will Be Urged to Join Association

The city administration will be invited by the Shippers' association to become the patron of that organization and assume a membership in it, with a view to giving the organization more fully a civic standing.

At the next council meeting the aldermen will be asked to appoint a representative to hold the city's membership, and to appropriate money to sustain its representation.

This step is justified by the fact that, as a buyer of heavy freight such as iron pipe and coal, the city of La Crosse is financially interested in freight rates.

The present officers of the association are prepared to step out, but will retain their membership and continue to work for the project.

Merchants, hitherto not represented in the association, but interested by reason of the excessive freight upon every commodity they handle, will be urged to join in the work.

In order to get the association started Frank Sisson, Albert Funk and H. L. Martin, all manufacturers, began the work. Today there are forty members, all manufacturers and jobbers. A number of cases have been tried before the Interstate Commerce commission, all successfully. It costs about $500 to try a case, and those already interested have expended about $5,000. The work for the present year is organized upon a $5,000 basis. A greater membership, including all who are directly interested in freight rates, incoming and outgoing, either in industry or merchandising, is desired in order that the burden may be equitably apportioned.

Several years ago Dubuque met and won this same fight, with the result that her concessions have placed La Crosse at a great disadvantage. However, the concessions to Dubuque are proving a strong argument in the pleas being made for La Crosse at a great disadvantage. However, the concessions to Dubuque are proving a strong argument in the pleas being made for La Crosse. The importance of the struggle, which aims to place La Crosse rates throughout upon a new and cheaper basis, is shown by the fact that the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce sent an expert to the most recent hearing here to OPPOSE the demands of this city.

Task Unfinished

The work of reducing incoming rates is well in hand, but there remains the great task of reducing outgoing rates and the general rates covering merchandise.

A letter has been addressed to Mayor A. A. Bentley, soliciting his co-operation.

Paying the Fiddler

To create public interest the association has been publishing schedules showing discrimination against La Crosse. It is shown that in a single year La Crosse pays $10,000 more on its shoe freight than does Dubuque. The raw material for a carload of shoes, to La Crosse, is more than the freight on a carload of the finished product of Dubuque. Today D. W. MacWillie, who is responsible for the publicity campaign, has provided the following showing on piano freight to La Crosse:

Statement showing comparison of rates and charges on pianos less carloads New York and Boston to La Crosse and Dubuque:

Shortline distance New York to La Crosse 1.107
Short line distance New York to Dubuque 1.080

Difference in favor of Dubuque 27
Shortline distance Boston to La Crosse 1.146
Shortline distance Boston to Dubuque 1.184

Distance in favor of La Crosse 38
Rate New York and Boston to La Crosse $1.188
Rate New York and Boston to Dubuque922

Difference in favor of Dubuque 266
Rate per ton mile New York to La Crosse 21.5
Rate per ton mile New York to Dubuque 17.0

Rate per ton mile Boston to La Crosse 20.7
Rate per ton mile Boston to Dubuque 15.5

It will be observed that the New York distance is 27 miles in favor of Dubuque and Boston 38 miles in favor of La Crosse, while the rates from both New York and Boston are the same, and were we on the same relative basis as Dubuque our rate from New York would be 94 cents and from Boston 89 cents as against present rate of $1.188, or a saving of $2.23 on every piano received from New York and $2.68 on every one received from Boston.

IVANGOROD FALLS IN GERMAN RUSH AS WORLD'S GREATEST MILITARY COUP IMPERILS FLEEING RUSSIAN ARMY

JITNEYS VICTORS WHEN MEASURE IS CHANGED TO SUIT

Bond Is Cut in Half and Street Car Companies Are Not Regarded in Deciding Permits

BANK TAX BILL IS SLAUGHTERED

Scheme to Apply Income Tax Provisions Is Reconsidered and Goes to Death

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—Passage of the jitney bill, amended to suit the jitney operators and approved by Governor Phillips, was secured in the senate yesterday afternoon by a vote of 20 to 5. The jitney men hail the result as a distinct victory, as it provides, in addition to making the bond $2,500 instead of $5,000, that jitneys must show there is a demand for their service "regardless of any service now furnished."

The presence of competing street railway service is not, under this amendment, to have bearing on the right of a jitney to operate over a given territory. The vote by which the bill was passed follows: For the bill—Ackley, Albert, Bennett, Bosshard, Burke, Culbertson, Cunningham, Everett, Fairchild, Hanson, Huber, Jennings, Kellogg, Perry, Potts, Bollmann, Skogmo, Staudenmayer, Stevens, Whitman—20.

Against—Arnold, Barwig, Bray, Monk and Mulberger—5. It is said Senator Arnold's motive in voting against the bill was the fact that jitneys are placed under railroad commission control, and he is opposed to such jurisdiction.

The only personalities heard during the discussion were sharp references by Senator Frank Hanson to J. E. Lehr, representative of the jitney operators. Lehr, who is a former state senator, was referred to several times as a liar and other opprobrious epithets were applied. He accused Lehr of uncomplimentary remarks concerning members. Of equal importance was the senate's action at the same session in reconsidering the vote by which the night before it advanced the house bill allowing banks to be taxed under the income tax law by a vote of 14 to 12. The motion to reconsider was made by Senator Askley, administration leader, and prevailed 14 to 9. The motion to non-concur was made by Senator Bosshard, and carried by the following vote:

To kill the bill—Ackley, Albers, Arnold, Biehler, Bosshard, Bray, Burke, Culbertson, Jennings, Monk, Perry, Potts, Skogmo, Stevens—14. Against killing—Berwig, Baxter, Everett, Fairchild, Hanson, Huber, Kellogg, Martin, Mulberger, Rollmann, Staudenmayer, Whitman—12.

Pass Bosshard Bill

The senate passed the Bosshard bill requiring the maintenance of bridges across the waters forming the boundary line between two or more counties to be borne at the joint expense of such counties, the terms of such apportionment and repair cost to be decided by the state highway commission. The senate also passed a bill appropriating $28,000 for two years to county agricultural representatives. The university appropriation bills were re-referred to the finance committee.

IVANGOROD CAPTURE UNIT IN CAMPAIGN TO DESTROY SLAVS

Capture of Vistula Line a Supreme Military Achievement of All History

WILL FOLLOW ADVANTAGE

Mason Thinks It Improbable Germans Will Leave Poland to Concentrate in Flanders

BY J. W. T. MASON (Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Today's fall of Ivangorod is only the military complement of yesterday's evacuation of Warsaw. The two victories themselves are but part of the greater campaign which has for its objective the obliteration of the Russian field forces.

Although the capture of the Vistula line is not an end in itself, it is by far the greatest success of the war, and must be named with the supreme military achievements of all history. The immensity of the accomplishment is due to the fact that the miracle has been worked with only a part of the Teutonic power. Germany is holding England and France in check and Austria is preventing an impregnable front to Italy. Yet both powers have enough excess strength to capture the principal military strongholds of the Slavs. This is what makes the German victory rank almost with legendary combats of Titans.

London's belief that the Germans now will concentrate in the west for a new drive toward Calais will probably prove to be unfounded. The all-controlling purpose of present Teutonic strategy is to force Russia out of the war. It would be more shortsighted for Berlin and Vienna to abandon the eastern offensive now than it would have been to quit the east after the capture of Lemberg. The depression of normally pessimistic Slavs grows greater with each Teutonic victory. Lack of ammunition does not explain the continuous Russian retreat since the first of May.

The frightful strain of the year's fighting undoubtedly has begun to undermine the Slav morale; and it is legitimate for the Teutons to believe they may cause Russia's complete collapse in the near future.

GERMANS ENTERING CITY AS CAPTURE THREATENS SLAVS

Allied Troops Began to Enter City on Tuesday Says Vienna Dispatch

RIGA FALL MATTER OF HOURS

Fortress of NovoGeorgievsk Considered Impregnable Being Hastily Evacuated

SLAVS SQUEEZED IN JAWS

Von Hindenburg on North and Mackensen Deliver Series of Attacks on Retreaters

VIENNA, via Berlin, Aug. 6.—The Russian fortress of Ivangorod, fifty miles southeast of Warsaw, has been captured by the Austro-Germans, it was officially announced here today. The allied troops began entering the fortress on Tuesday.

Campaign Drawing to Close. BERLIN, via The Hague, Aug. 6.—The greatest military campaign in the world's history is drawing rapidly to a close. The Russians are everywhere in retreat, from the Baltic to Galicia, their armies threatened with destruction.

Occupation of the great Russian Baltic seaport of Riga by a German army is now only a matter of hours. Ivangorod, the Russian fortress defending Warsaw from the southeast, has been captured by the Austrians, according to an official bulletin from Vienna. Novo Georgievsk, lying north of Warsaw and considered impregnable, is being hastily evacuated by the Russian garrison, which is falling back in confusion to escape capture at the hands of the Bavarians who entered Warsaw.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Contradictory statements of the fate of Novo Georgievsk, the Russian fortress guarding Warsaw from the north, came from Berlin and Petrograd this afternoon.

A news agency dispatch from Petrograd said the fortress was still in the hands of the Russians when the last dispatches were filed at the war office. Berlin dispatches reported that the Russians have evacuated.

Slav Army Squeezed. Von Hindenburg on the north and Mackensen on the south are smashing away in simultaneous attacks against the Russian flanks, squeezing in the wings of the beaten armies and threatening the capture of whole army corps. The world has never witnessed such a retreat.

In the north the Slavs are fighting with rare courage and desperation to save the Warsaw-Petrograd railway, toward which General Von Buelow is battering his way. In the southeast the enemy's resistance is equally determined, the flower of the Russian army endeavoring to halt Mackensen's rush northward in the direction of Brest Litovsk, a march that spells disaster to the Russian left.

Fall Back Rapidly

Between these two wings the Slavs are falling back steadily, attempting to wheel more than one million men into a straight front to block the German steam roller. The greatest strategist of the ages could not organize such a gigantic retreat without sustaining heavy losses in guns and men, in the opinion of military men here. Consequently the rout of whole Russian armies was predicted in military circles here today.

So engrossed is the German public in the mighty effort now being made to cut off the Russian retreat that there was little speculation here today regarding Germany's next move. In official circles the hint was dropped last night that the next stroke of the German armies will astonish the world.

From Warsaw itself little information had been received here today, though it was understood that the fleeing garrison was being hotly pursued. This was taken to mean either that the Russians had not succeeded in destroying all the Vistula bridges in their hasty flight, or that the Bavarian prince had held pontons in readiness and had quickly bridged the stream.

At least 100,000 Russians, fighting the next 36 hours.

RAINS AND GALES BAD FOR CROPS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Three weeks' torrential rains, culminating in the last five days in cloudbursts, hail storms and gales, have seriously damaged crops east of the Rockies, agriculture department records showed.
Departmental regulations rendered exact figures unavailable until August 10, but concerning the middle west, this much was admitted: Winter wheat harvesting has been paralyzed. Shocked and uncut wheat is greatly damaged. Spring wheat is ready for harvesting and the yield will be big if rains hold off.
Northern portions of the corn belt are very backward but the southern crop is better.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Wise Old Owl That Lived In the Wood.

Mr. Owl Looked So Very Impressive.

"THERE is a story, or there will be as soon as I have made it up," said daddy, "about the wise old owl that lived in the wood, and how he wasn't so wise, after all, and how the other birds found out that he wasn't."
"And just how they came to find it out I will tell you in a moment. But I don't want to get ahead of my story."
"So I will begin my story by telling you how the wise old owl impressed the other birds with the belief that he was so very wise. And he did it in just the way that a great many men, not to mention some boys and girls, do it. And how was that, do you ask? Why, just by his looks. You see, he looked so wise that all the other birds came to believe at first that he really was the wisest bird that ever lived."
"This wise old owl was pretty quiet in the daytime, for you see, he couldn't see anything then, for he was as blind as a bat, as the saying is. This was because of a peculiarity in his eyes. When an owl stares at you in the daytime he can't really see you at all. He blinks and blinks with his story eyes that are yellow and give you the 'creeps', and he just stares and stares, and I suppose he wishes he could see in the daytime as well as in the night."
"But in the night time it is far different, and Mr. Owl can see then just as well as you kiddies can see in the daytime. It is then that he flies around, getting his meals, which are apt to be composed of some little field mice who are not careful and so are caught by Mr. Owl. And Mr. Owl hoots and stares and can see in the dark as if it were sunlight."
"You see, children, Mr. Owl looked so very impressive with his big eyes and his tufted horns and his curved beak and his feathery face that the other birds took him just as seriously as he took himself. But it remained for the magpie to find him out and make the other birds laugh at him."
"You know, children, the magpie is a very inquisitive bird, always prying into the affairs of the other birds, and then running and telling about it. And one day he chattered to the other birds about the old owl who looked so wise."
"He isn't wise at all," said the magpie, "and I can prove it to you."
"How can you prove it?" asked the other birds.
"Well," replied the magpie, "he's all the time hooting: 'Who? Who?' But he never finds out. If he was so very wise he'd know who, wouldn't he?"
"And then the other birds had a fine laugh at the old owl's expense, and they didn't think he was so wise after that."

STEAMER GIVEN A STABILITY TEST LOADED WITH SAND

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Thousands lined the front yesterday afternoon to watch the first stability test of Great Lake steamers. The whale-back Christopher Columbus, dean of Great Lake vessels, was on trial for her life after more than twenty years' service.

The boat was loaded with 750,000 pounds of sand, three-fourths of it on one side.
The test was a voluntary one, made by her owners, the Goodrich Transit company, whose officers felt certain of her stability.
The vessel proved her stability to the satisfaction of government officials and her owners. During the test, which was most severe, she listed but sixteen degrees—barely noticeable.

SAYS NATURE'S CREATION CONQUERED TUBERCULOSIS

WALTER BRIGHT

"I am certainly grateful to Nature's Creation for my recovery from tuberculosis," says Walter Bright, 1951 E. Vermont St., Indianapolis, Ind., in a recent statement. "I had an awful cure for tuberculosis and similar diseases because it is the only thing that cured me."
"Last Fall I began to feel badly, had to quit work and was confined to my bed for nine weeks. I fell off in weight until I weighed 145 pounds. I had an awful cough, night sweats nearly every night and became very weak. I had no appetite and my digestion and sleep were poor. I treated with a doctor for several months but he did me no good, so I changed doctors and he pronounced my trouble tuberculosis."
"NATURE'S CREATION. 'Nature's Creation' had been recommended to me by a friend and I had noticed testimonials in newspapers. I finally got a bottle of it. My recovery has been remarkable. My appetite returned, the night sweats disappeared and I gained steadily in weight. My cough left me. Since taking the medicine, I have gained 40 pounds, my present weight being 185. I feel as well as I ever did and have no cough nor any trouble whatever."
"The original letter from Mr. Bright is in our office along with hundreds of others telling of the remarkable benefits derived from Nature's Creation. We have issued a booklet containing full information regarding the use of this remedy in the treatment of tuberculosis and the conditions which lead up to it, such as bronchitis, impure blood, run-down system and asthma."
Everybody should learn the truth about this remarkable remedy, which we will gladly furnish. Write for a copy of our new booklet, "Truth," containing photos and testimonials of former sufferers. Address: Elmer Haenlein, 32 Sentinel Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis. Nature's Creation is not a patent medicine and is not sold in drug stores. Beware of substitutes—demand the original and genuine Nature's Creation. Watch for Nature's Creation testimonials, which will appear in this paper every Friday.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A SALARIED MAN

BY SARAH WHITING

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
"Hang prudence!" Jack Manners cried impulsively. "I'd rather half starve with Elsie than feast without her."
"How about whole starving?" Louise, his cousin, asked provokingly. "Sure it may not come to that?"
"Yes—with a little help from these," Jack retorted, stretching a pair of muscular hands high above his head. "Starve we will not so long as I can work. I'm pretty husky—and not exactly a fool."
"Except sometimes," and this is one of those occasions," Louise persisted. "I know you can work—that you will. But first you must get the work. If you marry out of hand on love and nothing, trusting to Providence, you'll handicap yourself fatally. I am afraid."
"Which means, being interpreted, you hate Elsie Denton," Jack retorted, his mouth setting doggedly.
"Louise looked at him reproachfully. "I deserve that for the folly of thinking you would not misunderstand me," she said. "I have nothing against your sweetheart except that I have nothing for her. Like all the Denton girls, she has been brought up with an eye single to husband-catching rather than husband-serving."
"Good afternoon! I won't stay to hear her slanderously dissected!" Jack burst out. "Not even by the woman to whom I owe my education. Don't be uneasy—I'll pay you every dollar. Elsie will help me. She is already planning how we shall save and thrive."
"You owe me no money, but I think courtesy is due the blood—our blood," she interrupted. "You have been like my brother—my dear younger brother—for whom I had such hopes," she went on steadily. "You are free, white and steady. Nobody has a shadow of control. Elsie Denton is twenty-two—ten years older in feeling, in experience, in maturity. What she is she always will be. You—you are just beginning fairly to find yourself. Be halfway sensible, Jack—for the blood's sake. Wait until you have your profession, at least."
"I shall get it, never fear," Jack said hotly, "but not at your expense. I'm deep enough in your debt already."
"Let that pass, please," Louise said, her eyes growing steely. "Tell me exactly what your plans are."
"I'm going into Blaney's office to study," he replied defiantly. "He'll give me something—not much, but we'll make it do. I shall do things for him—things that will teach me better than any law school, and he'll throw things in my way, things he don't care for himself."
"And the wedding?" Louise asked.
Jack flushed. "I want it right away," he said, "tomorrow, if it rested with me. But Elsie and her people are set on having a church affair, so we have settled on October—after everybody is back home."
"Meantime?" Louise queried relently.

Jack looked down shamefacedly. "I can get out of your sight—if you say so," he said. "But it would help me out to stay here—until we can settle on a place to live."
"You must not doubt you are welcome," she said with a long sigh. "Understand, though, I wash my hands of all responsibility henceforth. I had hoped we need never part—that you would marry some girl I could love dearly. As things are—you have my good wishes. When you are ready I shall do something toward making your home complete."

With this, Jack rushed away to Elsie. Sore and bruised from the conflict with his cousin, he sought comfort and reassurance. It hurt him to find her on the verge of tears, surveying his ring with a perturbed frown. It had been his mother's engagement ring and was set with a small diamond of fine lustre. He prized it so dearly he had thought she must do likewise.

"May Cutter ran in to show me her ring," Elsie said petulantly. "Such a beauty—a blue-white solitaire. She says it cost a thousand—and Job Means is going to give her a string of pearls when they marry. It made me so ashamed I hid my ring hand first—but she saw it. So I had to tell her I was wearing this just until you had time to run up to the city and get me a real ring set in a special design."

"What an unprincipled little flatterer!" Jack said fondly, with yet an unaccountable sinking of the heart. "Say—I'll have to invest in prize packages until I win the special design. Then you can wear it once—in a very dim light—say it doesn't suit you, and send it back."

"I wonder who'd be fibbing then!" Elsie cried, her eyes sparkling. Then in her most coaxing tone, "Don't you think, Jack, it would be better if you got me the real ring? I know your cousin has a charge account at Letfield's."
"But I'd starve before I added anything to it," Jack burst out.
At this she tossed her head, saying with a pout, "Why, she's bound to give us a handsome present for her own credit's sake! Just do as I say, and tell her that settles it. I simply won't let May Cutter put it all over me as she does."

"Let me tell you a few things," Jack said, paling to the lips. As briefly and as baldly as possible he told her of his cousin's attitude, of his own hopes, plans, even his fears.

"I know it's going to be hard—an awful pull, girly," he wound up. "But—well, face it together. Isn't that better than being apart?"
Elsie was sobbing. She had never dreamed of a situation like this. Her plan had been to marry and go straight home to the Manners house, the handsome man in town. Jack was the heir presumptive—he had grown up there. Miss Louise was so fond of him she could never do without him. Of course, she would make him a very handsome allowance, besides paying all expenses. Unless she would, unless she did—Elsie shuddered. She did truly love Jack next to herself, but she wanted ease, luxury, secure comfort. If marrying her brought him poverty, why, it would be better to let him go.

"You say she'll do something for us? How much do you suppose? We could manage fairly on $3,000 a year besides what you make," she ventured doubtfully.

Jack laughed contemptuously. "I suppose she will furnish the kitchen for us and give us half a dozen teaspoons," he said. "But $3,000 a year! Why, I couldn't bring myself to take it if she offered it. I owe her too much already."

"You are wickedly foolish," Elsie sobbed. "And unkind, too. If you had told me in time I shouldn't be in this awful hole. Of course I can't marry you as things are. I have no taste or talent for starvation. Suppose we wait a year or two. Maybe I can bring her around. If that turns out to be impossible, well, we shall see. I simply can't stay here forever. Mother has three other girls younger than I am, remem-

AN INVASION

BY FRIENDS

In Mexico the fighting goes on fruitlessly, and as far as we can see, aimlessly. The economic situation is becoming inconceivably bad.

Unless peace is restored soon, there is a grim possibility of millions starving.

Should the United States be compelled to intervene the protection of our own interests should not be uppermost in our minds. Even the protection of American citizens, sacred as that obligation is, is not the supreme consideration. Our job, as most Americans now see it, is to save the Mexican people. It is primarily a task of unselfish philanthropy, such as we accomplished in Cuba.

WORK VITAL TO

CITY'S FUTURE

The campaign of the La Crosse

Shippers' association for more equitable freight rates in and out of La Crosse is of major importance. The city's location between Chicago and the Twin Cities has resulted in the establishment of rates discriminatory against La Crosse, and heretofore there has been no adequate effort to secure an adjustment.

It is not a question of low rates.

The problem is to secure proportionately fair rates. The thing we must do is to compete successfully with other cities in our lines of manufacture. To do so our rates must be as good as theirs. A high rate isn't fatal to our competitors, too, must pay it, a low rate does not save us

if competitors have a lower rate.

This is the problem that the Shipping association is working out. It has driven the entering wedge. Having won its contentions in two cases, it has established a precedent upon which to base a succession of hearings which promise to result in the entire revision of our schedules to conform with those of competing cities.

For many years this city was remiss in the matter of pressing its rights before the interstate commerce commission, and as a result we received scant consideration.

Railroads lifted their eyebrows at our timid remonstrances and brushed them aside as absurd. Now we have gone at the subject in earnest, with system and intelligence. Our possibilities as a manufacturing center are involved, and there is strength and enthusiasm in the skillful fight being conducted for better conditions. Perhaps we shall live to see "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

A PAINFUL

OPERATION

That a head-writer (note the alibi) conferred an honorary M. D.

upon John Gabbert Bowman, A. B.

L. D., in his interview yesterday, so contributed to the amusement of

Dr. Evans that he refrains from removing an editor "for the good of the service," albeit his comment upon the subject might have been interpreted as "interference with academic freedom." There may be extenuation for the fast-working head-writer in that to disentangle the

"Little Lame Dutchman" from the suggestive circumstances that one had lost a university presidency and won the directorship of the American College of Surgeons through a controversy upon the appointment of a professor of surgery, especially if we may assume that said American College of Surgeons was confused with the P & S, might require a second glance. Or perhaps the degree was justified by the operation which an

L. L. D. would hasten to perform upon the fee-splitting appendix of the "noblest profession." In any event we have faint hope that our characterization of the aforesaid

head-writer as a scholarly person

(again the alibi) will carry conviction, but if both doctors will be compassionate we'll agree to hand a

"safety first" pamphlet to the official Blue Pencil. Well, we're on the table—let the clinic proceed.

WE SPEAK FOR

ALL NEUTRALS

It has been gratifying and reassuring to observe that, all through our negotiations with Germany and England, the policy and purpose of the United States has been understood and approved by the important South American countries.

The general Latin-American attitude has been expressed by La Nacionala, leading newspaper of Buenos

Ayres, which, commenting on President Wilson's last note to Germany, observes that "The United States government does not concern itself with the reasons for war methods,

but with the methods themselves,"

and adds:

"The United States is caring not only for its national interests, but especially for the interests of all neutrals."

Such an attitude is in itself strong evidence of the new Pan-American-ism that is making all the republics of this hemisphere a unit in their relations with the Old World.

The fact that our government is recognized as the spokesman of all the Americas adds immensely to the force of its representations to the belligerents. We are really not limiting our efforts to the defense of Pan-American rights. As La Nacionala says, we are caring for the "interests of all the neutrals," and they all recognize it.

A SORT OF

SELF-DEFENSE

Now it's up to those La Crosse

gentlemen, who have been saying that the central board of education idea was not favored by "any educators of reputation," to take back what they said.—Leader-Press.

Certainly. Its defenders are the central board.

Her Brooch

Against her snow-white throat, upon

Her trim, old-fashioned gown,

Grandmother wore this brooch of gold.

To hold her collar down.

No lady she, but just a wife

And mother in the days

When heavy tasks were hers to do.

Without reward or praise.

See, here's a yellowed letter.

Where her thoughts she thus indites:

"Great virtue doth adorn our sex,

But it hath a dearth of rights."

Oh, old-time heart, I thrill to this;

For in these words I see

The suffrage spirit born of you

Sent down the years to me.

And so I take your brooch of gold.

Where it's lain almost forgot,

And in your name I throw it in

The suffrage melting pot.

Though "rights" are won, the last

comes slow;

So from old days remote,

You still may add your gold to ours

And help us win the vote.

—Oreola W. Hoskell, in Judge.

Argument Was Windy

Two old Scotsmen were one day disputing as to who remembered the winder day.

"I mind it bein' sic a win," said one, "that it took the crows three

'oors to flee hame frae the dominie's field, an' that's no mair than a mile."

"Hoot, man!" the other replied.

"I've seen it that windy that the crows had to walk hame."

He Wouldn't Wear It

"What are you styding now?"

asked Mrs. Jobson.

"We have taken up the subject of molecules," answered her son.

"I hope you will be very attentive and practice constantly," said the mother. "I tried to get your father to wear one, but he could not keep it in his eye."

What an Obliging Dentist

The patient writhed in the chair.

Anger made his face crimson, but the rubber dam in his mouth prevented speech.

The dentist stepped quickly into his laboratory and came back with a placard which he hung up on the wall high enough to be seen by the patient in his semi-recumbent position. On the card were printed in bold type half a dozen lines of profanity that fairly sizzled.

"Is that how you feel?" asked the dentist, sympathetically.

The patient nodded his head.

"Well, keep your eyes on the card. I'll soon be through."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Advance Agent

The minister was delivering his farewell sermon. He had been having tough luck in collecting his salary and concluded to quit. Here is what he said:

"Now, brethren, I have been appointed chaplain of the penitentiary of the state, and this will be my last Sunday among you. I will preach from the text, 'I go to prepare a place for you,' after which the choir will sing 'Meet Me There.'"

The Pretending Age

Jenny and Louise, aged 4 and 4, were at the happy "pretending age."

MONKEYS PROVE MEDICAL THEORY

In the evolution of medicine and surgery the masters of these professions have resorted to the use of the lower animals in making tests by which the human family profits. The rabbit and the guinea pig are the lower animals in which the heart action is closest to that of the human being.

The monkey tribe, however, is the family in which the action of the lungs is closest to that of man. Monkeys are particularly subject to pulmonary tuberculosis, or consumption. Among monkeys the deadly white plague rears its toll almost without resistance.

Several years ago the medical world evolved the theory that open air was the surest preventative for tuberculosis of the lungs. This scientific disclosure was quickly caught up by the Gentry Brothers, proprietors and owners of Gentry Brothers' famous shows, which is to be here tomorrow.

Conducting a trained animal exhibition, that has arisen to the apex of fame, Gentry Brothers used monkeys. The loss among the simians was appalling. When the fresh air treatment was expounded Gentry Brothers decided upon drastic moves. They decreed that monkeys for all time should live in open air.

Following this decision came a most remarkable demonstration of how nature provides for her own. Nature soon provided the simians, destined to open air in a northern winter, with heavy coats of hair. These coats were heavier than any ever before seen on monkeys. The monkeys were left in open air all the year, their only protection being a dry goods box. Since then Gentry Brothers have lost but two monkeys, whereas twenty-five was the usual toll of the plague in winter.

The monkeys, strangely enough, welcome their new mode of living.

Way to Overcome Fatigue.

A novel method of relieving fatigue is being employed by soldiers in the French army. The men take off their shoes, lie on the ground or any flat surface, and raise their legs at right angles to the body against a wall or other upright support. The toes, ankles and knees are worked. Rest in this position and the flood of blood that pours into the tissues when they get up is very reviving. The head should be raised as on a pillow.

Early Martial Music.

Almost from time immemorial our soldiers have marched to the tune of the drum or the skirling of the pipes, London Tit-Bits says. Perhaps, however, the most interesting of the early records of martial music is that concerning an episode in 1333, the date of the battle of Halidon hill, when "the Englyshe mynstrelles beaten their tabors and blewren their trompes, and pipers pipedene loud and made a great schowte upon the Skottes."

MASONIC HONORS FOR JOSEPH GALE

Supervisor and Civil War Veteran Who Dropped Dead Yesterday Will Be Buried Sunday

CAME TO LA CROSSE IN 1861

Served Three Years of the Rebellion and Was on Sherman's Famous March

Joseph Gale, county supervisor, prominent Mason and veteran of the civil war who dropped dead at his home, 733 Mill street, yesterday, will be buried at Oak Grove cemetery Sunday afternoon with Masonic honors.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Finch A. Clark, pastor of the North Presbyterian church. Masons of the North La Crosse lodge, No. 190, A. F. and A. M., will attend. Pallbearers will be selected from members of the lodge, and Past Master W. W. Cameron will conduct Masonic ritualistic services at the grave.

Born in New York. Mr. Gale was born May 1, 1838, in St. Lawrence county, New York, of New England stock. There he secured his early education. When a young man he decided to cast his lot with the large number who were seeking the new west as their home, and in 1858, he came to Dubuque, Ia. About 1861 Mr. Gale came to La Crosse county.

In 1861 Mr. Gale joined the cause of the union, and enlisted as a volunteer in the Thirty-first Wisconsin infantry. He served for three years. The last two years of his service were put in as sergeant of Company D. Mr. Gale was then in the Twentieth Army corps.

Prior to the battle of Atlanta, one of the crucial engagements of the war between the north and south, Mr. Gale was transferred to the Fourteenth Army corps and fought through the battle of Atlanta.

Marched With Sherman. Subsequently he marched with the new famous branch of the northern army from Atlanta to the sea under General Sherman. Mr. Gale has resided in La Crosse since the close of the war. He was married in 1862 to Mary Schoenberger, who survives him.

Mr. Gale held the distinction of being the last charter member of the north side Masonic lodge. He was also an active member of the Wilson-Cowell post of the G. A. R. here. For many years Mr. Gale was engaged as a carpenter and millwright in La Crosse.

KNUTSON PITCHES NO-RUN, HITLESS GAME LAST NIGHT

League-leading Nelsons' Slabmeister Fans Seventeen of the Caspersens

"Muvvy" Knutson, grooving 'em for the league leading Nelsons of the north side playground senior indoor league at Copeland park last night, pitched a no-hit no-run game against the reorganized Caspersen aggregation. Not only did the speedboy of the indoor league set the Caspersens down without a semblance of a safe bingle or tally, but he sent seventeen men back to the bench after forcing them to dent the atmosphere with three healthy swings. Not a man of the losers reached the initial sack.

Caspersen, who shows the earmarks of being a second Bill Donovan at times, was in fine fettle last night, allowing the heavy-hitting Nelsons but three bingles, one of which was a four-ply swat by Lafser in the first inning.

Both teams fielded cleverly, the miscues being few and far between. H. Zeisler, first sacker for the Caspersens, topped a large share of the fielding honors of the day when he made a spectacular one-hand stab of a fly ball in the fourth inning when running with his back to the ball.

The final score of the game was 4 to 0. The batteries were Knutson and Lafser for the Nelsons and Caspersen and Caspersen.

The same teams will stage their regular weekly scheduled game tonight, the game last night being a postponed game from last week.

Supremacy on the indoor diamond between the Doerflingers and the Epworth league will also be decided tonight at the north side park.

GAME FOR SUNDAY

The north La Crosse baseball team and the Majestics are scheduled to stage an exhibition of the national game at Copeland park Sunday afternoon. McPadden and Gibson will form the battery for the north side, while Waska and Waska will oppose them.

ASSEMBLY THINKS IT CAN GET AWAY BY NEXT THURSDAY

Passes Resolution to Knock Off Work on the Twelfth for Final Adjournment on Nineteenth

CUT DEEP IN DAIRY FUNDS

Governor's $37,000 Trimming on Which Weigle Reversed Is Made $1,000 Larger

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—There is some prospect of ending the actual work of the present legislature on Thursday, August 12, and securing a sine die adjournment on August 19th. At least the assembly feels that this can be done, as it adopted a resolution Thursday afternoon, calling for a cessation of work at that time. A resolution had been adopted earlier in the day calling for continuous sessions, except Sunday over the coming week-end.

Pass Railroad Bill. After listening to arguments lasting for four hours the assembly passed the senate bill, permitting the railroad commission to apportion a part of the cost of reconstructing sidetracks to industrial establishments, when the grade is disarranged by depression or elevation of the main line track of railroads. The vote resulted 44 to 32.

City Attorney Daniel Hoan, Milwaukee, spoke for an hour against the bill. He called it an attempt to force municipalities to construct side tracks for the railroads, whereas that burden ought to be and now is imposed upon the railroads. Representatives of railroad companies and shippers affected denied this.

The assembly refused to allow the return of the Hambrecht bill increasing the non-resident tuition fee at the university, to the senate for amendment. The bill, as it passed the senate provides for a fee of $148 a year, an increase of $24.

Cut Dairy Dept. Funds. The finance committee reported the budget bill for the dairy and food department, going the governor's recommendation of a cut of $37,000 one better. The amendment provided for an additional cut of $1,000, it being practically the understanding that the vacations in the department will be reduced from one month to two weeks. On Monday this department asked for an appropriation of $72,000. On Tuesday an amendment was granted after an amendment to cut the appropriation was defeated. Then Dairy and Food Commissioner Weigle sent a letter to the legislature saying that owing to the increased efficiency of the department the reduction in the appropriation should be made and the finance committee then reduced it another $1,000. The bill in the amended form was passed by a vote of 51 to 14.

CITY SEALER OF BIG VALUE SAYS JAMES B. MURRAY

Of Equal Service to Honest Retailer and to the Public Says Head of the Grocers

PEOPLE BUY BETTER NOWADAYS

Pay Nominally Higher Prices but Get What They Pay For He Declares

That the department of city sealer of weights and measures, represented here by Eugene H. Derr, is of inestimable value both to the retail merchant and to the consumer, is the opinion of James B. Murray, president of the Retail Grocers' association, expressed today in an interview to the TRIBUNE.

"The retail trade of La Crosse was demoralized before the office was brought here," said Mr. Murray. "Grocers, butchers and dealers in other commodities were cheating and being cheated. To keep up with the other fellow, the merchant was almost forced to be dishonest, and weights and measures meant little."

"While prices then were lower, seemingly, than now, I am fully convinced that the people of La Crosse are buying at lower prices than they were before the office was installed by the legislature."

Always 15 Pounds to Peck

"We'll take potatoes as an example. They sold for ten cents less per peck, but you were lucky if you got twelve pounds in your peck. Now you pay more, but there are always fifteen pounds in that peck of potatoes. A few merchants did stick to the 'honesty is best' policy, but they lost."

The merchants of La Crosse wanted a standard weight and measure. They came to the place where they knew it would have to come. Even the farmers who sold to the stores here were dishonest. It was the general custom and they were no exception to the rule of short measure. Their standard measure for potatoes was about forty-five pounds to the bushel.

"Those potatoes sold for forty cents a bushel, but now that there must be sixty pounds in every bushel they are selling for slightly more. At the former price, while the consumer thought he was buying cheaply, he was being beaten."

"Here's a popular brand of coffee put up in cans," said Mr. Murray. "See the label on it—sixteen ounces net weight? I remember the time that that same can only contained thirteen ounces of coffee but it sold for a pound. In all these things you are buying as cheap now as ever."

Nothing on the Square

"There used to be a scare a thing but pork in barrels, flour by the barrel and wheat by the pound that had a standard weight or measure. Nothing was sold on the square. Canned stuffs were all short. Cans of peas, for instance, labeled two pounds frequently contained as little as one and a quarter pounds. All cans are now standard weight."

"Crackers were often put up in a big loose package and labeled 'one pound,' while they only contained eight ounces."

"Since the office of sealer of weights and measures was established here, the saving to the people on berries, milk and cream alone has been tremendous. Probably the people will remember the time they bought quart boxes of berries with the bottom of the box half way up the inside of the box, and when milk and cream bottles were short two or more ounces all the time."

"Another thing—you never hear of a merchant giving twenty pounds of sugar for a dollar now, when it costs the merchant six and a half cents per pound."

Never Thought of Weight

"The great unfairness of the thing was that the people never took honesty into consideration when the merchant displayed an attractive price. When a grocer cut the price the consumer purchased his goods,

ONALASKA FARMERS OPTIMISTIC WHILE CROPS ARE THREATENED

Grains Beaten Down and Harvest at a Standstill But Land Owners Look for Relief

ONALASKA, Wis., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—The heavy rains the past few days have been a great setback to the farmers. There are acres of hay yet to be cut and in some places grain is being harvested.

Until the past few days the crops with the exception of corn have looked fine but due to the continuous rain of the past few days great damage has been done. Optimism is the keynote nevertheless.

STRICKEN BELGIUM HAS FAIR EXHIBIT

Tragedy of Little Nation Is Written Deep in the French Building at Exposition

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 6.—The tragedy of Belgium is written deep at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Laughing crowds, thrilled by the splendor of the big fair and its wonders, suddenly become silent before what is veritably Belgium's shrine among the exhibits of nations of the world.

The appearance of the maimed and torn nation, which holds the sympathy of an entire world, is not expected. And when it is encountered under the sheltering folds of the French tri-color men and women stop short.

Two rooms in the palatial French building are set aside for Belgium. France has done more than any other nation in her efforts to pay her respects to this country through her exhibits and not the least of the pains taken by the republic is the attention given Belgium. To the right of the broad, carpeted stairs leading to the main floor of the French building is the Belgium exhibit. Above the door is merely the inscription, "Belgium." But beyond is the work of a nation rearing its head above its ruins and proclaiming to the world, that Belgium still lives.

The Belgium exhibit is not large. There is a big model of the city of Antwerp, now held by the Germans. There are a few paintings, bronzes and exhibits of work from miscellaneous industries.

Men and women stand in silence before busts of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth, mounted upon pedestals near the center of the room. At the foot of these pedestals cut flowers and wreaths are piled high, filling the room with the pungent odor. About the walls of the second room appear such names as Ostend, Bruges, Namur and other cities, well known to Americans through war dispatches.

Apparently nothing was overlooked by France in preparing her exhibit for the big fair. There are rare rugs and tapestries from the time of Napoleon, relics of Balzac, General Lafayette, and others famous in French history as well as costly exhibits from the modistes and shops of Paris, the nation's best in art and in every industry.

WOLF MAY GET NEW TRIAL IN ARSON CHARGE AT PRESTON

Prominent Feed Dealer Found Guilty of Setting Barn and Mill on Fire Heard by Judge Quinn

PRESTON, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—Judge James H. Quinn today took the application of attorneys for F. B. Wolf for a new trial under advisement and will probably return judgment in a few days. Wolf, prominent feed dealer was recently found guilty of setting fire to his barn and feed mill. Evidence showed that quantities of oil had been poured on the buildings, and although Wolf tried to show that he was not in Preston on the night of the fire, he was sentenced indefinitely to Minnesota state's prison. The fire in Wolf's property was the third to occur within five years, and a deputy fire marshal investigated. He found evidence on which he based a charge of arson, and Wolf was arrested.

IVANGOROD CAPTURE UNIT IN CAMPAIGN TO DESROY THE SLAVS

(Continued from Page One.) Poland. In fact, it is doubtful whether by any possibility they can be seriously broken at all. The British and French trenches are far better prepared and better manned than is the Russian front. There is nothing publicly known about the western situation that might encourage the Germans to hope for a victory. The western allies have been saving their ammunition since the eastern drive began, in order to meet a possible German offensive against themselves. They are rested and are admirably prepared for defensive combat. That the Teutonic armies, therefore, should cease their Russian offensive just as the Slavs are half beaten and attempt a new battle of Flanders in the west it is impossible to believe. To force a separate peace from Russia will probably continue to be the Kaiser's dominating purpose.

WOODWARD QUILTS TO HEAD PRISON REFORM FORCES

Warden of State Penitentiary Announces Impending Change of Activities with Annual Report

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—Coinciding to his biennial report Rev. Daniel Woodward, warden of the state penitentiary at Waupun, announces that his retirement will be followed by assumption of management of the prison reform movement, succeeding the late Dr. Hindley, with headquarters at Butte, Mont.

The outgoing warden declares that the honor system, now used to some extent, has so justified itself that at least fifty per cent of the prisoners should be placed under it.

An interesting feature of the report is that, although he opposed the plan originally because he felt it would not pay, the warden declares the binder twine manufacture so pronounced an financial success that the equipment should be doubled.

ing in the angle whose apex rested on Novo Georgievsk fortress, are believed to be threatened with capture by the fall of the Polish capital. Retreat for them was possible only over two railways, both leading to the eastern suburbs of Warsaw.

To take either of these after Warsaw had fallen was to deliver themselves into the hands of the Germans. To retreat over the plain in a northeasterly direction along the Bug river was to face the danger of being cut off by a German advance over the Warsaw-Petrograd railway.

Before nightfall the Russians who escaped from Warsaw are expected to have begun arriving at Novo Minsk twenty-seven miles east of the capital. It was not expected that the Slavs would attempt any serious stand directly east of Praga.

Capture of Riga, of almost equal importance from the military point of view as the taking of Warsaw, is expected to be announced before tomorrow night. German troops already are within artillery range of the city and German aeroplanes have dropped circulars in the heart of the town, announcing that the Germans are about to enter. The Russians in the Riga district are now maneuvering only with the object of making good their escape.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 6.—News of the German occupation of Warsaw was received quite calmly here today, the newspapers having prepared the public for the evacuation nearly a fortnight in advance.

Today's papers printed a brief official statement, saying that in view of the situation at the Polish front, the garrison at Warsaw fell back to the right bank of the Vistula without molestation by the Germans and were moving toward the new front decided upon by the general staff. The whole Russian line is reforming along this new front.

HAITI IS UNDER MILITARY CONTROL

Marine Commandant Put in Charge at Port au Prince; to Elect President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Colonel Cole, marine commandant on the Connecticut, has been placed by Admiral Caperton in military control at Port au Prince, Charge d'Affaires Davis notified the state department today.

Captain Beach, also of the marine corps, added Davis, has taken charge of civil matters and negotiations developing from this military control. The Haitian chamber of deputies, the department was notified, will meet Monday to elect a successor to the late President Guillaume, assassinated by a mob as an incident of the recent uprising.

Blumenthal, superintendent of public property, and George F. Weigle, dairy and food commissioner, because of alleged inefficiency, was the cause of one of the bitterest fights staged in the assembly this session. NO SAILORS HERE SO UNCLE SAM IS TO MOVE STATION

Branch of Navy Recruiting Service Is to Be Transferred to Austin, Minn., in Short Time

The United States navy recruiting office, situated in the Federal building and established here about one year ago, will be transferred in the near future to Austin, Minn., it was unofficially learned today in a communication received by Recruiting Officer E. A. Nippa from the Minneapolis office.

No direct cause of the transfer is given although it is believed here that it is because of a lack of applicants. As far as the number sent to the navy office is concerned, the branch has proven a practical failure.

Confirmation of the report that the office will be changed was also brought here by former Recruiting Officer F. H. Fredericks, here on a visit.

Nippa will be sent to Austin for a short time with the closing of the La Crosse office. Another officer will then be placed in charge of the Austin office and Nippa will be detailed to establish recruiting stations at Hibbing and Virginia, Minn.

ERIE DEATH TOLL MORE THAN FIFTY

Thirty-three Persons Are Still Missing from Catastrophe of Tuesday

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 6.—Thirty persons missing in Erie's flood catastrophe were today given up as dead by the authorities. These, with the twenty-one bodies in the morgue, and three or four located but not yet extricated from the wreckage that still blocks the streets, will run the death toll to between fifty-five and sixty.

The Pennsylvania state constabulary patrolled the stricken section today with loaded rifles. Thieves, attracted by stories of valuables buried in the debris, have been active since Tuesday.

MISSION TO HOLD GOSPEL MEETINGS

Three Weeks' Series of Open Air Services Will Begin on Sunday, Aug. 15

A three weeks' series of open air gospel meetings will be held on the lot near the corner of Fifth and State streets, beginning Sunday, August 15. They will be conducted under the auspices of the La Crosse Rescue Mission and will be held every night. The meetings were postponed one week to allow Peter MacFarlane, superintendent of the St. Paul Rescue Mission, to arrange to be here.

Mr. MacFarlane and Mr. Dewey will speak each night. Several La Crosse churches will co-operate in the services, and Mr. Dewey is making an urgent request that the people of La Crosse aid him in the work with their attendance.

If the weather does not permit the meetings to be held out-of-doors they will be transferred to the mission hall on Pearl street.

ONE KILLED, TWO HURT IN CRASH

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 6.—One woman is dead, another injured badly, and Henry C. Wiehe, president of the Wiehe Furniture company, is lying probably mortally injured in St. John's hospital here today, the result of an accident late last night, when an auto in which the trio were riding plunged over a bridge fifteen feet into a creek. Miss Ina Butler, the injured girl, told the police the dead woman was her aunt, Mrs. Millehale, but refused any further explanation of the accident.

ALLEN QUILTS JOB WHEN NOT ALLOWED TO RESIDE OUTSIDE

Exponent of Honor System Unable to Remain Where Wife Was Murdered

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 6.—Warden Edmund M. Allen of Joliet penitentiary, resigned today and his resignation was accepted by Governor Dunne following the latter's refusal to grant Allen permission to reside outside the walls of the prison where his wife was murdered several weeks ago.

At a recent conference in Chicago Warden Allen asked Governor Dunne to allow him to reside in Chicago and transact the business of the penitentiary by traveling back and forth by train.

The governor took the matter under consideration and yesterday announced that the statutes specifically state that the warden must reside at the penitentiary and so informed Warden Allen.

Allen's resignation today followed and was accepted by the governor immediately upon its receipt at the state house.

Later, learning of a statement made in Chicago in connection with his resignation that it would be hard for him to drop his honor system which had been his life's work, the governor made the following statement:

"The honor system is mine. In no sense of the word was it instituted by Mr. Allen. In my inaugural address I specifically declared that the honor system should be instituted in the Illinois penitentiary."

Guards Added at Prison

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 6.—Fearing a demonstration when the announcement of Warden Allen's resignation is made, Deputy Warden Lawrence Ryan today added extra guards to the regular force. Special guards were told off to watch the honor convicts and take precautions to prevent any trouble.

WILSON PROMISES THOROUGH PROBE IN EASTLAND CASE

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago today received a reply to a letter he sent to President Wilson asking inquiry into the Eastland disaster be most rigid and thorough.

"May I beg of you that you will assure members of your committee of profound interest in the Eastland investigation, and that from the first it has had my careful attention," said the reply. "I shall see that the investigation does not result in a way which will not be entirely satisfactory to the public."

GOVERNOR MOVIE FAN

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 6.—Governor Philipp evidently acquired the "economy" habit by practicing it himself. He is the first governor that Wisconsin has had, as far as memory goes, who eats "off the arm of a chair" and likes the movies. The governor can be seen any day in one of Madison's lunch rooms calmly absorbing a bowl of "alf and alf" and munching crackers. And every night that he is not busy he is at a vaudeville show or watching Poor Pauline slide off a cliff.

PIONEER'S DEATH SHOCK TO FRIENDS

West Salem Nonpareil-Journal Comments Upon Death of Resident on Pacific Coast

The West Salem Nonpareil-Journal this week comments upon the death of Mrs. W. I. Dudley as follows:

It was a great shock to people of all classes in this community when the news reached the village that Mrs. W. I. Dudley had died at La Mesa, Cal., though her friends and family were not wholly unprepared for such news, knowing of her having suffered a stroke of paralysis several days since at Tulare, Cal., and having received another message that was sent very shortly before the announcement of her death, acknowledging the seriousness of her condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley left West Salem on June 19 for an extended trip in the far west, the first leisurely pleasure trip of any moment since their marriage, having La Mesa as the goal of their journeyings enjoying the anticipation of meeting their daughter, Mrs. Lillian Dudley Porter, who, with her husband and two children, were coming back to America on furlough from their mission station in China for a year's vacation in their American home.

The Porter family reside in La Mesa and it was there that the family reunion was to begin, the continuation of it the Dudley home here, having been an absorbing theme with the family and their friends for a long time. It was with this delightful prospect that Miss Phoebe Dudley resigned her position at Kansas City to take the western trip with her father and mother. At Tulare, almost at the end of their outward journey, Mrs. Dudley was stricken with the malady on July 21, and the journey interrupted. After a wait of a few days, she was taken from Tulare to La Mesa, where she could be contented and where the climate was more suitable. All indications justified a hope for speedy recovery, at least in part, and plans for the homeward journey were laid, but a recurrence of the stroke she had suffered brought the end suddenly on August 2.

A very wide circle of friends and relatives will suffer the shock of the sad news together, for Mrs. Dudley was among the best known and best loved of those whom we call our "Old Settlers," having ever delighted in hospitality, in the things social of her life, in her religious life and its associations, and above all, in the enjoyment of her well tested friendships.

Deeper sympathy has never been called forth by any message of sorrow than has been in this sad event, and never sympathy more widespread and sincere. Seldom have there been such circumstances conspiring to add to the pathos of any similar bereavement as there has been in this case.

Notice of the funeral arrangements will be published later.

WAR ODDITIES

LONDON.—Britain's popular war song, "Sister Susie's Sewing Shirts for Soldiers" has a rival. It's "Cousin Clara's Cooking Cakes for Cosacks."

LONDON.—Latest London recruiting poster: "Cross Channel Trips. Spend your summer holidays on the continent. Sea passage may be booked inside." The "inside" is a recruiting office.

BERLIN.—Every seventh son born in prominent German families in which the preceding six sons are alive is a "God Child" of the kaiser. He now has 12,000.

BELFAST.—Hugh McCruden, a German Jew, member of a British regiment, supposedly intoxicated, cheered for the kaiser and was arrested under the Defense of the Realm act.

LONDON.—Lord Kitchener has turned the park and gardens of his country home over to wounded soldiers who may roam and pick flowers "as much as they like" according to the warlord's orders.

ATHENS.—(By Mail).—That General Linman Von Sanders, commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, in constant fear of assassination, goes about daily clad in armor that not only covers his body but his head, is the statement today of the Constantinople correspondent of an Athens paper.

The general's head "impediment" resembles somewhat the head armor of the ancients and discloses no more of the commander's face than can be seen through thick glass goggles.

Despite all precautions, according to other advices, von Sanders was wounded. It was not stated whether he was hit when clad in his armor.

PLAN TO SEND FRYE CASE TO THE HAGUE MAY BE ACCEPTED

Case Would Be Test of the Prussian-American Treaty of 1828

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—America probably will accept Germany's proposition to submit the Frye case as a general test of the Prussian-American treaty of 1828 to The Hague.

High officials said today that while the controversy was not of a kind to warrant a break, a settlement is imperative.

The question hinges on Germany's right to sink contraband-carrying American ships.

Pending arbitration, it was expected America would accept Germany's offer to pay for the Frye, with the understanding that payment does not constitute a waiver either by Germany or America of their respective interpretations of the treaty.

No action was looked for relative to the British note, rejecting America's claim to freedom of the seas, until President Wilson returns to Washington.

An early protest to France was foreseen against retention of the steamship Dacia, the Hamburg-American vessel transferred to American registry after the war began.

It's a short step from cunning to rascality.

PACKY STARTS TRAINING

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Packy McFarland today announced that he will start training immediately for his scheduled ten round bout with Mike Gibbons at New York September 11. Four sparring partners will help Packy get his eye back, as his long layoff has made his judgment of distance bad.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD
BY HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for the United Press.)

Tyler of the Braves and Burns of the Tigers were the circuit swatters in the big show yesterday.

New York doesn't quite understand yet how it all happened. Both the Yanks and Giants copped a double header.

And now the National league standing looks like the Mexican situation. Only a matter of four games separate first and sixth place. The Giants are in fifth place and but five points from second.

The Dodgers keep on dodging victory with amazing agility. They make hits a-plenty, but are non-plussed what to do with them when they get 'em.

The Tigers are in the midst of a severe losing streak—the Athletics managed to cop one-half of a double header from them.

Drop a tear for A. Rankin Johnson. A. Rank held the Stoufferts to one hit, but lost his game to Eddie Plank.

Yesterday was fairly choked with unusual happenings, not the least of which was Grover Cleveland Alexander losing another game, this time to Babe Adams. Grover has been licked his last two times out now.

Red Murray should have a home with Chicago fans for a day or two anyway. It was the former Giant's nine inning blow that gave the Bruins a victory over the Braves.

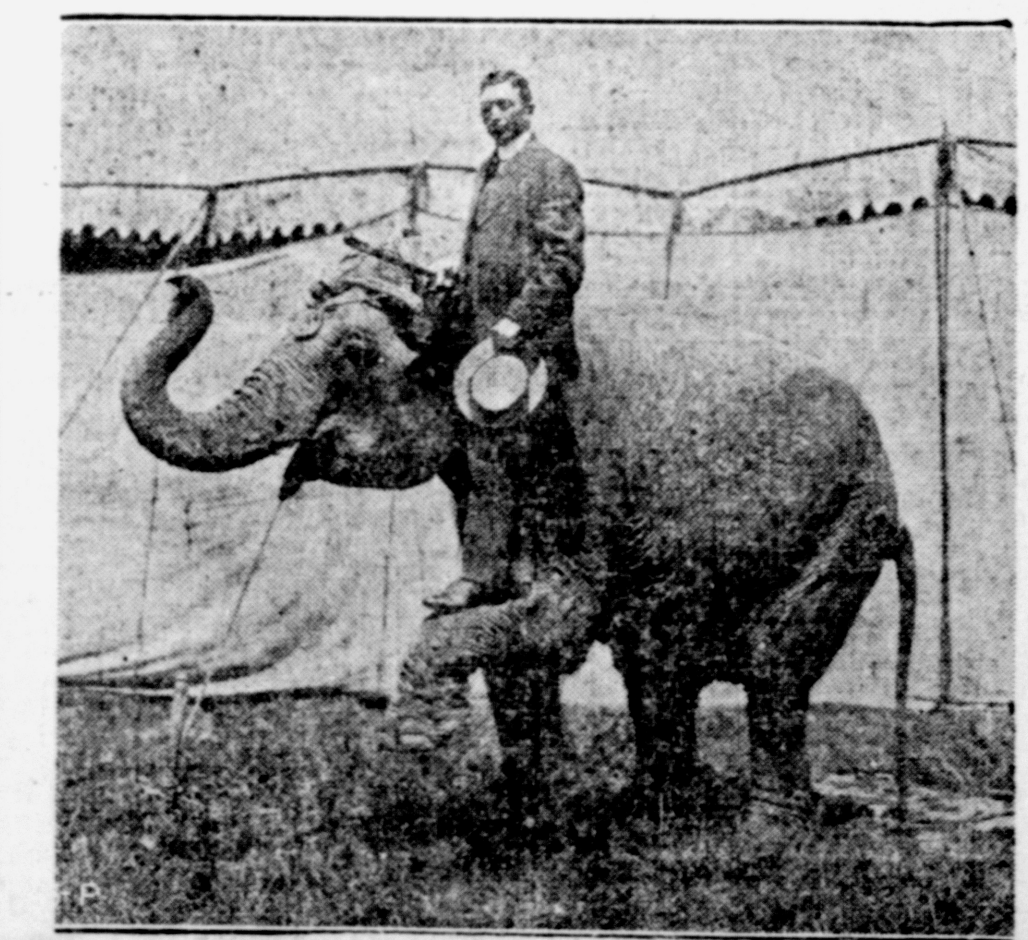

The Cardinals scored three runs and a victory on three hits. The Dodgers got two runs and a licking on ten bolls. It's a queerish world.

RECORDS MAY GO

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—"I look for all world's records to go," declared Tom Hay, speedway official, addressing Burman, Cooper and Oldfield, as they timed Resta, the fourth participant, spinning around the Maywood track at a clip better than 105 miles an hour. The 100 mile challenge race will take place Saturday afternoon.

BORDER PATROL

Carranzistas Attack Villistas at Nogales and Obregon Keeps on Toward Torreon

FORT SILL, Okla., Aug. 6.—Under orders from the war department, an artillery battery left here today for El Paso as a border patrol.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Carranzistas presumably under General Calles attacked the Villista outposts at Nogales at 4 p. m. yesterday, said a dispatch to the state department today. Consul Simplic served the usual warning concerning the firing across the line.

Obregon Moves on Torreon
GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 6.—Obregon has resumed his advance on Torreon which was interrupted by his battle with Fierro. Fresnillo was occupied yesterday and the Carranzistas are now advancing rapidly, the consul here was advised today. General Coss reported a victory over the Zapatistas near Cuernavaca.

Tourists Caught
NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 6.—Several American tourists were caught on the Mexican side of the border here during yesterday's battle, which cost the attacking Carranzistas thirty-five dead and the defending Villistas five slain and twenty-five wounded. The tourists were compelled to remain throughout the fighting it became known today, hiding in cellars of adobe houses until the Carranzistas retired at sundown.

Eight captured Carranzistas were executed today.

Carranzistas are entrenched four miles from Nogales, Sonora, and a renewal of the fighting today was expected. General Calles at the head of the attackers is awaiting reinforcements. His loss in wounded is believed to have been large. The three bullets that fell on the American side during yesterday's firing

POULTRY SHOW WILL HAVE SAME STATE AID AS USUAL

Assemblyman Kurtzacker Writes E. H. Hoffman that the Appropriation is not Subject to Reduction by Legislature

Plans for the twenty-fifth annual Western Wisconsin Poultry show received additional impetus this morning when word was received by City Clerk Edwin H. Hoffman, secretary of the association, that the $200 state aid which the show has been accustomed to receive will not be withdrawn.

The information was contained in a letter received by the city clerk from Assemblyman Karl Kurtzacker, in answer to an inquiry addressed to him by Mr. Hoffman. The $5,000 given by the state to poultry shows each year is a continuing appropriation, and thus not subject to the retrenchment program of the legislature, Mr. Kurtzacker wrote.

The twenty-fifth annual chicken show here will be held December 6 to 12.

STATE OFFICERS
RAID BAD HOUSES

KEOKUK, Iowa, Aug. 6.—Considerable uneasiness prevails in certain circles here as the result of state officers' activities yesterday. Eight alleged keepers of houses of prostitution were held to the grand jury under bonds of $200 which were furnished. The inmates arrested in the raids directed by state officers were charged with vagrancy under state law and were held to the grand jury. Three informations charging bootlegging were filed, two of these were against keepers of houses and one against a local druggist. Some of the state officers are believed to be still here. The police officials here are silent.

RACHEL M'ELDOWNEY WEDS AT SALEM

Young Woman United to Lynn Gullickson in Marriage in Beautiful Ceremony

WEST SALEM, Wis., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—A beautiful wedding service was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McElDowney at eight o'clock Wednesday morning, when their daughter, Rachel, was united in marriage to Dr. Lynn Gullickson. Miss Myrtle Oltman sang a marriage prelude, "Beloved It is Morn," and as she finished, the bride descended the stairs to her father's arm, followed by little Evelyn McElDowney, the ring bearer, and preceded by her pastor, Rev. Samuel McKee. A large bouquet of pink gladioli marked the altar and here the groom received the bride from her father and the beautiful ring service was used.

Only the families of the contracting parties were present. During the congratulations Miss Myrtle Oltman sang "O Promise Me" and shortly after the guests were seated at a beautifully decorated table, and a delicious wedding breakfast was served. All the decorations were under the personal supervision of Mr. Schaefer of the La Crosse Floral company, and were Mr. Schaefer's gift to the bride. The color scheme was pink and green and all the flowers were arranged with exquisite taste and appropriateness. A caterer from La Crosse served the five course repast. Covers were laid for eighteen and though there was a gloomy rainy outside there were happiness and cheer within.

Miss McElDowney was married in her traveling suit of blue broadcloth and carried pink roses. After the breakfast the bride and groom were taken by Mr. Angus Johnson in his auto, to La Crosse, where they took the fast mail to St. Paul, the first stop in a journey that will include a trip on the lakes and a visit with relatives at Iron River and other places. For the past two years Miss McElDowney has been teaching in the agricultural school at Onalaska and has made a great many friends there. Dr. Lynn Gullickson is one of West Salem's most popular young men, and is achieving success in his chosen profession.

Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Gullickson will take with them into their new life the most cordial good wishes of hosts of friends. They will be at home to their many friends at West Salem after Sept. 15.

McElDowneys Entertain

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McElDowney entertained a party of friends at a delightful three course luncheon. Covers were laid for about thirty. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wendell McElDowney, Mrs. Hope McElDowney, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Stubbs, Dr. and Mrs. S. R. Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Johnson, Mrs. G. F. Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. C. Pettijohn of Farmington, Ill., and the Misses Nell Smead, Ethel and Myrtle Oltman, Jessie Tower, Helen Yantis of Fort Smith, Ark., Olive Cooke, Russie Gullickson, Leila McKee and Bessie Cobb of Elkhorn, Wis., and the Messrs. Pointer, Mickelson, Hickey, Hancock and Norris.

During the evening musical selections were rendered by Miss Leila McKee, Miss Myrtle Oltman, Mrs. G. F. Wakefield, Miss Olive Cooke and Miss Ethel Oltman and Messrs. Pointer and Mickelson. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers of various kinds. The serving was done by the Misses Hazel Brown and Faye Aldrich. A most enjoyable evening was spent by every one.

This Sunday is a good day to settle the Tom Moore question

Smoking is one of man's normal delights—like enjoying prime roast-beef or drinking well made coffee.

But it's up to every smoker to put a little thought into choosing that cigar which gives him full satisfaction—but doesn't over feed his smoke taste.

We have always believed that few men can smoke heavy cigars all day long. Most men are best suited with cigars of a milder type, such as the Tom Moore.

Tom Moore gives you the unmistakable Havana flavor but its strength is "modulated" by the slight addition of certain milder tobaccos.

Sunday, when cigars mean such a lot to a man, is a good day to try out Tom Moore. Smoke one in the afternoon and another along in the evening. And here's to the good smoke hours that are coming to you!

RURAL GARMENTS IN THIS SUMMER

Quaint and Primitive Garb Makes Princess and Peasant Kin

BY MARGARET MASON
(Written for the United Press.)
Dolly of the dairy
And Bridget who peels spuds,
And Greta of the garden,
And Susie of the sofa,
Have all been emulated
By Fashion in her duds.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Madame La Mode has a perfect passion this summer for masquerading in rural raiment and adapting to her perverse purposes all the quaint and primitive sartorial devices of the peasantry. In reckless manner she has shown that one touch of bodice makes princess and peasant kin. In fact this comic opera girdle of laced black velvet may be said to have struck a note of equality by being half way of a peeress and also half way of a peasant with equally pleasing results. Not being confined to the upper, lower or middle classes exclusively it has confined the middle of all.

Many a last summer's frock has been freshened up to 1915 standards by simply adding the peasant girdle or bodice with its cord or ribbon laces.

Then there is the popular smock like the gardener's and Greta the gardener's girl wear when they go weeding, sowing and spading, to say nothing of the wide brimmed floppy garden hats of loose woven straw that Milady has snatched from their simple heads to perch on her own frivolous pate.

Copying everything in the apron from the gay little inconsequential affair affected by the ladies maid and the femme de chambre up to the more durable models displayed by the kitchen queen and presiding goddess of the laundry tubs she has converted them by grace of sheer fabrics and thread-like laces into exquisite finishing touches on her smart summer frocks.

The filmy fichu shrouding her snowy bosom was inspired by the kerchief of the simple dairy maid and to such extremes is her penchant for all things primitive taking her that they have even affected her eating and sleeping. She insists on taking her food off the crude hand painted peasant wares of Brittany, Bulgaria or the Black Forest while her bed and table linen is of unbleached peasant weaves stunningly monogrammed. For after all she prides herself as really getting next to nature and being truly of the people in her present peasant modes and yet though she wears an apron it is of the finest lace and hand embroidered. If she cover her bed with unbleached muslin and drape her windows in cheese cloth and lay her table with coarse linen in natural shade they are all exquisitely stitched and embroidered and monogrammed in the height of art and artistry. Dame Fashion only plays at being primitive.

Patch pockets aren't the only patch on this season's vagaries of apparel. Indeed the whole scheme of a successful toilette seems to be patchy. Three and even four different materials and colors often go to make up a single frock and the more the merrier is the mode. The tiny silken jackets of plain color are worn over a bodice of striped material whose sleeves and front are of a transparent white or ecru chiffon with the versatile costumes. Some of them live up more closely to the patchwork idea by having a combination of dotted silk trimmed in striped organdy with plain transparent chiffon sleeves, a plain jacket effect and a belt and garnishments of beadwork. Patchwork seems a kindly term to designate some of these creations. To dub them simply a mess comes nearer to the verities.

It's been a neck and neck race all summer between the stripes and the dots. Zebra girls will soon be turning dotty, however, as stripes are more dashing and noticeable and therefore you tire of them more easily than of the more conservative little dot. Combining the stripes and the dots gives a result startlingly reminiscent of a "words and music" effect. To be sure this striking costume of note is a bit loud, but it strikes the right keynote of the amount and never is the least bit flat.

So don't doff your stripes to don dots—just try a little of both.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back Hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and full misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

CREW OF STEAMER OWE LIVES TODAY

Men Saved by Submarine Crew Because Captain Swam After a Pomeranian

(By Wilbur S. Forrest, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, July 20 (By mail).—Thirty-eight members of the crew of the British cargo steamer Caucasian, torpedoed off the British coast, owe their lives to a diminutive Pomeranian dog.

The story was told today at headquarters of the National Canine Defense league, where Captain Robinson of the Caucasian was awarded a silver medal for saving the life of the dog and consequently the crew.

The Caucasian was torpedoed after a submarine had pursued the vessel an hour. While the crew were swarming into the boats, Captain Robinson handed "Betty," his wife's ten months old Pomeranian dog, to the second mate directing that the animal be placed in a lifeboat. The mate handed "Betty" to a member of the crew who accidentally dropped her overboard.

When the captain entered the boat he saw the little dog swimming toward the submarine. He immediately jumped into the water and swam about a quarter of a mile. When he reached the dog he placed it on his shoulder and was surprised to find that he was within a few yards of the submarine. The German officer of the craft, standing on deck, addressed him in imperfect English.

"I had made up my mind to blow up your lifeboats because you did not stop your ship, but I will not do so as a reward for your brave swim to save your little dog."

Captain Robinson swam back to his lifeboat and the submarine proceeded on its search for other victims.

The crew were picked up by the British steamer Ingomar, but immediately were forced to take again to their own boats as the submarine returned and torpedoed the Ingomar.

Captain Robinson, with his dog, and crew were finally rescued by another steamer and landed at Penzance.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 6.—Here's the latest Ford story:

During a "war scare" in this country, certain officers of the Michigan National guard were ordered to locate emergency supplies. One called on Ford and asked if he could supply the chassis for a large number of ambulances.

"Yes," Ford replied, "if you don't want too many. I could supply 1,000 a day. But we would have to be given due notice of your needs."

"How much time would you want?" queried the officer, bracing himself for a demand of several months.

"Well," Ford replied thoughtfully, "you ought to let us know not later than 4 o'clock of the day before deliveries were to start."

What married men can't understand is the fact that most bachelors are unable to appreciate their freedom.

RAIN CHANGES CROP PROSPECTS

Most Promising Crop in Years Now Standing in Water Says Trempealeau Report

TREMPEALEAU, Wis., Aug. 6.—(Special).—The past four days have completely changed the prospect for harvest in this community. A week ago conditions pointed to this as one of the largest yields of small grain in years. Now as one drives through the country, fields of oats that are ripe are crinkling down and standing in water from one to six inches deep, according to the lay of the land.

Rye that has been cut and shocked in the fields is commencing to sprout. The grub worms have commenced to work in the corn which was a backward crop.

Pastures are also suffering from this pest. In some places the grass has been killed to such an extent that farmers have had to resort to winter feed in order to keep their dairy herds in condition.

The hay will be a small crop and of a poor quality on account of the continued rain not furnishing fit conditions.

SOLDIERS FIGHT AMONG CORPSES

LONDON, July 23.—(By Mail).—How a burly Scott at Givency fought a German adversary with bare fists and won was told in a letter received today from the front. The Scott wrote:

"I got my eye on a big German and we had a real duel. The more I thrust at him with my bayonet the more he sparred and grinned at me. We sparred with steel for a half hour, and neither would give in. 'It's no good Scotty,' he said, 'I won't,' said I, and we kept on slashing until the bayonets dropped from our hands."

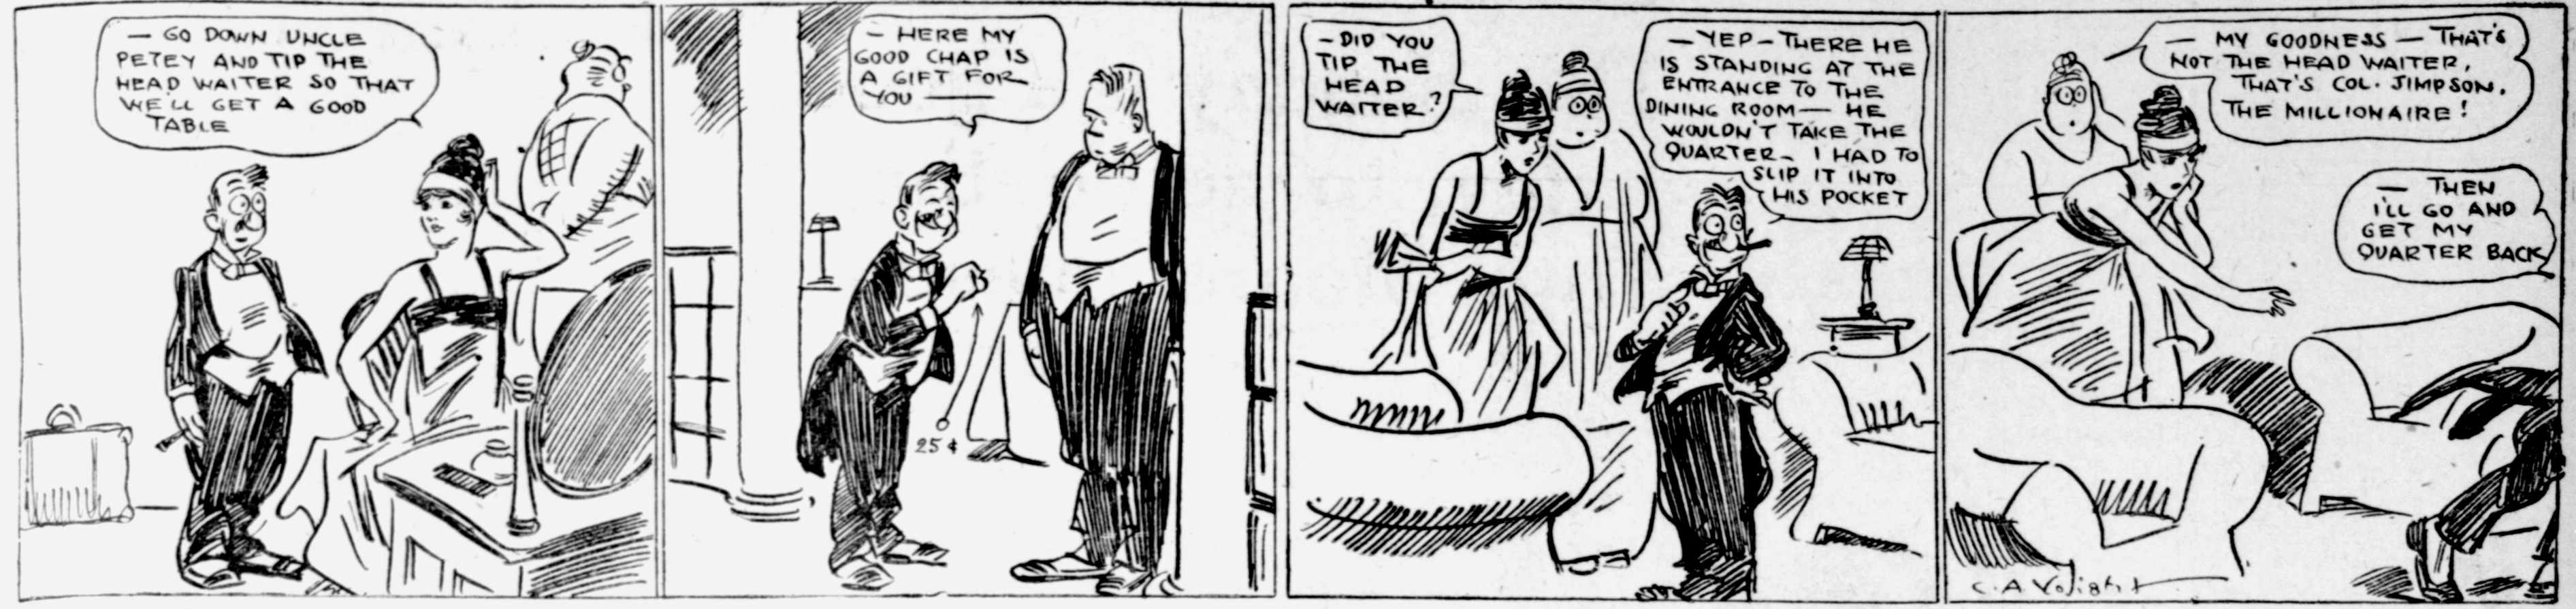

"Then we had a go with the fists, and we fairly walloped each other among the corpses on every side. He got me down but at the finish I got the better of him. I grabbed my bayonet again, but I could not kill him for he was a bit of a sport. He made a good prisoner."

Creoles.

The term creole is, as a rule, applied to those natives of Spanish America, or the West Indies, who are of Spanish or French parentage, or descent. The term does not mean that the one to whom it is applied has negro blood in his veins.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The grain market continued its downward course today with occasional rallies caused by buying orders at the recession. The market paid little heed with lower Liverpool cables or to stories of crop damage. Crop experts' estimates of a billion bushel wheat crop and clearing weather counteracted all these.

Wheat opened up from 1/4 to 1/2 and subsequently lost 1/4 toward the close.

Corn lost 3/4c on September and December.

Oats was the weakest of the grains. Near the close September and December had each lost one Provisions showed a sharp rally from the slump of the last few days. Traders concluded that the packers may have had ulterior motives in the pessimistic attitudes as to the export trade.

RUSHFORD MAN

"Old Timers" Lay the Wet

Weather to Explosives

Battles

RUSHFORD, Minn., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—"Dog days" should be here, yet some of our citizens who keep their eyes open for strange and unique happenings were surely gratified this week when a farmer drove into Rushford wearing a buffalo coat.

A swift change to cold, after several days of hot, muggy weather with a drizzle of rain is accountable for the queer sight. A number of old residents, who distinctly remember the days of the civil war, claim that the almost steady rain of this summer is caused by the war in Europe.

They say that during the civil war rain fell almost incessantly because of the terrible bombardments of shot and shell and although we are separated from the now-warring nations by a long distance, it nevertheless is possible that we are suffering a rainy and cold season by reason of their frightful expenditure of explosives.

War Office News of Fighting

PARIS
PARIS, Aug. 6.—Violent onslaughts against the French works around Verdun have been launched by the armies under the German crown prince. Beginning with intermittent bombardments in the Argonne two days ago, the Teutons are now attacking on the whole front extending from the western Argonne to the heights of the Meuse.

The military critics are not agreed as to whether the German attacks constituted the beginning of a genuine offensive movement, but are paying close heed to the situation around the fortress. This afternoon's official communique contained the statement that intense artillery and infantry actions are occurring in the Argonne with the Germans attacking.

French positions around Eparges and all along the Meuse heights are under attack, but the Germans have been repulsed in each instance. Further south, around St. Mihiel the enemy is shelling the French trenches near Apremont forest.

On other sectors of the front little of importance developed throughout last night. The Germans continued weak efforts against the French positions around Souchez and Neuville St. Vaast in the region north of Arras, but their grenade attacks were repulsed.

MORE BATHERS TODAY

The attendance at the public baths showed a marked increase yesterday with the advent of warm weather, less the continuous drizzle of the past week. The weather to date has played havoc with the attendance all week.

YIELD OF SUGAR BEET LOW IN U. S.

Department of Agriculture Tells How the Hessian Fly May Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—With the exception of Russia, the yields of sugar beets per acre in the United States is lower than in any other beet producing country. The average in America is 10.17 tons, and in Germany, 14.84. The cost of labor in this country and other factors of a similar nature unquestionably account for some of this difference but, on the other hand, it is no uncommon thing to find the widest range in the yield of crops grown under conditions that appear to be almost identical. One farmer, for example, may take 20 tons of beets per acre to the factory, while his neighbor can only haul 7 or 8.

A recent investigation by the United States department of agriculture resulted in the conclusion that the differences were frequently due to unsuspected deficiencies in the stand. It was found that without actually counting them it was impossible to estimate with any degree of accuracy the number of plants per acre and that, in consequence, this number was frequently much smaller than the farmer had believed or intended. The loss may occur before thinning, during the process of thinning and blocking, and during cultivation between thinning and harvesting. For loss in the germination stand the causes may be found in poor preparation of the seed bed, imperfect operation of seed drills, late frosts, damping off, or such pests as cutworms or wireworms.

Improper thinning is, however, the greatest single source of loss. In this country the work is usually done without efficient supervision and there is no incentive to the laborers to be careful and accurate. The usual result is that the space left between the plants is greater than the farmer intended it to be. After the plants attain a moderate growth this fact is not perceptible to the ordinary observer. It is revealed, however, in a yield which is on the average 25 per cent less than it would have been had the thinning been properly done. A somewhat smaller loss frequently occurs a little later when some plants are destroyed by carelessness in the use of the cultivator.

Hessian Fly a Dangerous Pest

The loss to the wheat crop this year from the Hessian fly has undoubtedly been severe in many sections. The habits of this destructive pest are well known and they indicate that unless precautions are taken now this loss will be repeated next year. There are two generations of the fly each year—one in the fall and one in the following spring the second generation being off-spring of the former. To get rid of the pest next year, therefore, the fly should be destroyed this fall. This can be done by the simple process of starving out the fly. The following rules have been drawn up by argu-

cultural authorities in Oklahoma and are applicable to all sections of the country:

1. Burn, where possible and safe, all stubble and ruined wheat.
2. Disk all stubble and ruined wheat immediately after harvest, where burning is impracticable.
3. Plow under deeply all stubble and ruined wheat fields before August 15, harrow the ground and roll if necessary.
4. Harrow, disk, pasture or otherwise effectually destroy all volunteer wheat.
5. As a measure preparatory to sowing, plow as early and deeply as existing conditions will permit; disk, harrow and roll until a thoroughly pulverized, compact seed bed is obtained.
6. Do not sow wheat until after fly-free date.
7. Rotate your crops if possible.

The date when it is safe to sow wheat varies, of course, with the locality, and the farmer who is really anxious to save his next year's wheat crop from the Hessian fly should ascertain this date from his state agricultural college, or from the county demonstrating agent, or by inquiry from the department of agriculture at Washington. If he neglects this precaution he not only runs the risk of serious loss himself, but may injure his neighbors as well. It should also be borne in mind that the most effective methods of fighting the Hessian fly are also the best methods for producing the yields of wheat. The danger in late sowing that the growth of the plants may not become sufficiently advanced to stand the winter is dealt with in circular 51 of the department of agriculture.

"The Hessian Fly Situation in 1915." This may be obtained from the department of agriculture.
